Message from Rev Eric Lomax

Wow, this is not such an encouraging Message for the Church during Lockdown.

We will often search the Bible for messages of peace and encouragement because times are difficult and we need to know that God is there for us. We are not alone and in all the circumstances we face there is the knowledge that we are loved. Two sentences here seem to jump up and hit us in the face.

The first is; Jesus said 'Those who find their life will lose it, and those who lose their life for my sake will find it.'

And the second is; 'Do not think that I have come to bring peace but a sword.'

Jesus was not like a used car salesman with shiny teeth, who shined up his message so that we would buy it. Instead, like the warning on a packet of cigarettes, he wanted his followers to know the risk of following him. He told it just as it is and when it came to standing up for injustice he was really prepared to put his neck on the line. Being a Christian is potentially tough, risky and dangerous. Many disciples of Jesus throughout history have been persecuted for their faith and many have died because of their beliefs.

The New Testament was largely written during a time when Christians were being persecuted because of their faith. St Peter was, according to tradition, crucified upside down and despite having, himself, the privileges of being a Roman citizen, St Paul wrote many of his letters from prison. The risk to followers of Jesus is there as much today as it was two thousand years ago because we must stand up for our faith, and that is dangerous.

A Reading for the Week

Matthew 10.34-39

'Do not think that I have come to bring peace to the earth; I have not come to bring peace, but a sword. For I have come to set a man against his father, and a daughter against her mother, and a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law; and one's foes will be members of one's own household. Whoever loves father or mother more than me is not worthy of me; and whoever loves son or daughter more than me is not worthy of me; and whoever does not take up the cross and follow me is not worthy of me. Those who find their life will lose it, and those who lose their life for my sake will find it.'

Message from Rev Eric Lomax

I have been to South India several times to spend time with the Churches over there and once as I arrived at the airport one of my co-travellers announced that she was smuggling a pack of Bibles in her suitcase. I was quite looking forward to my trip there and I pointed out that if they were found we would be put right back on the plane from Delhi and sent back to England at our own expense. In the end she gave the Bibles to her husband who had brought her down to the airport. I took great pleasure in buying her a leather-bound Bible in a trashy gift shop in Madurai for which I had bartered the owner down to a thousand rupees. It is easy to get persecuted for being irritating but being an irritant in the midst of injustice and corruption is something entirely different. The real issues that the church encounters in South India, which we discovered, are issues of exploitation, gender discrimination and poverty. Surely these are issues that the Gospel should be challenging.

The brilliant theologian Dietrich Bonhoeffer wrote a book called The Cost of Discipleship and the first line on the very first page says; 'When Christ calls a man (Person), he bids him (or her) come and die.' Bonhoeffer himself was executed by the Nazis at the end of the second world war. He died not because he wore a 'Jesus saves' badge, but rather because for him the good news of Jesus Christ was about standing up for an evil, corrupt and unjust regime and he did that in the name of Christ. Bonhoeffer really wanted to bring about God's Kingdom instead of a Nazi Kingdom and for that his message really needed to be more like a sword than a kiss of peace.

I travelled to London on Saturday to pick up Liz's car which Rachael had borrowed some time ago. London was far from being on lock-down. There were police cars everywhere because of the race protests that were taking place in London and a white, right-wing rent-a-mob had turned up to attack black protestors and police.

The injustice felt by many black people even in the 20th century is certainly at odds with the Kingdom values of Justice and equality.

The Gospel puts a sword to such injustice by the message that everyone, regardless of colour, is loved by God and Paul's statement that 'There is neither Jew nor Gentile, neither slave nor free, nor is there male and female, for you are all one in Christ Jesus.' (Galatians 3:28).

The context of Paul writing this is different, because he is referring to the Church, but the Church is a reflection of Christ's Kingdom here on Earth.

We are called to the dangerous task of extending the scope of that Kingdom beyond our own walls to the world, God's world! Jesus said; 'The Spirit of the Lord is on me, because he has anointed me to proclaim good news to the poor. He has sent me to proclaim freedom for the prisoners and recovery of sight for the blind, to set the oppressed free, to proclaim the year of the Lord's favor.' (Luke 4:18-19).

That is what Jesus meant when he said; 'I have not come to bring peace, but a sword,' and with his Gospel, he has placed that sword in our hands, so that being a Christian is, to us, a risky business.

God bless

Eric

Daily Hope

The Archbishop of Canterbury has launched a free national phone line as a simple new way to bring worship and prayer into people's homes while church buildings are closed because of the coronavirus. Daily Hope offers music, prayers and reflections as well as full worship services from the Church of England at the end of a telephone line.

The line – which is available 24 hours a day on 0800 804 8044 – has been set up particularly with those unable to join online church services during the period of restrictions in mind.

For the Children (& young at heart!)

In today's Gospel reading (Matthew 10.24-39) Jesus tells his disciples that being a disciple may involve suffering and people being unkind to you but that everyone is known and valued by God.

Activities

1. Find an empty jam jar or drinking glass to represent our lives. Place large stones into the jar to represent God - God should come first and take up the most room in our lives. Add smaller stones until the jar seems full to represent family, friends, jobs, school etc. - these take up a lot of our time. Next add some sand or soil to represent things like TV, computer games, social media etc. which also fill up our lives and sometimes distract us from God. Finally add water until the jar is full to represent everything else in our lives. If we were to put the water, sand and small stones in first, we couldn't fit in the larger stones. This is the same with our lives. If we don't put God first we get so busy with everything else that we can't fit God in.

2. Jesus says "even the hairs on your head are counted and known by God". Can you count the number of hairs on your mum/dad/carer's head!

Song

Prayer

Let us pray to God: for a fire of love to burn within us, for those who are weary, for those who are afraid, for those who are lonely, for those who find life difficult, for those who are facing challenges. Be with them Lord. Amen.

Please pray with me

Faithful Creator,
whose mercy never fails:
deepen our faithfulness to you
and to your living Word.
Give us courage to stand firm,
With the sword of love and justice,
For the sake of your Kingdom
Jesus Christ our Lord.
Amen.

For your prayers

Please pray for:

- Our church leaders: all our Bishops, Archdeacon (Dave), Rural Dean (Richard), Vicar (Eric) Readers (Christopher and Paul) and Reader in training (Sue).
- Our children, as more children go back to school while others remain at home.

Our prayer group meets at 8pm on the 1st & 3rd Thursdays of the month via Zoom. Get in touch if you would like the login details or have any prayer requests.
